

Jordan Wong

Biography:

A collector of souvenir state spoons and overpriced Uni Alpha Gel lead pencils, I am an animator and designer driven by honesty with a goal to utilize art as therapy. My personal work is currently heavily influenced by concepts of escapism, divorce, loss of control, struggling to remain present, and our inability to communicate with one another.

Film:

"ugly but good"

Synopsis:

Learning to be at peace with eventualities and things you know you can't ever know.
